Valeria
Seliva Nova
PRO

Fashion photography has become its genre within the fashion industry. Creativity has no boundaries, and regardless of gender, the only thing that matters is how your work shines in a sea full of talented people.

Valeria shared "It's a different feeling altogether to see fashion through a female perspective. It may not seem much, but there is a huge difference between how a man shoots a woman and how a woman shoots a woman."

Shilpa Misra

I would say I do not follow fashion trends. I just follow whatever I'm feeling. I mean, I'm a rather emotional dresser, and I go by what I am needing to fulfil for the day. If I'm feeling rebellious, if I'm feeling sexy, if I'm feeling floral, that's kind of what I follow.

Aliyah's legacy is so timeless because she mastered the art of simplicity. She was a style chameleon who looked just as radiant in a pair of baggy pants as she did in a glamorous red carpet gown. Her music video looks were ultra-fierce and featured all the cut-outs and sparkles that fill our Insta feeds today. We also can't gloss over the fact that she made streetwear and oversized clothing cool in an era when skin-tight was everything.

Aliyah Ferrell

A woman with long, dark, wavy hair stands in the doorway of a rustic, weathered building. She is wearing a two-piece outfit: a cream-colored lace crop top and a long, tiered skirt with a floral pattern and a wide, fringed waistband. She is also wearing tan boots and several pieces of jewelry, including a necklace, a bracelet, and armlets. The background shows the interior of the building with wooden beams and a window.

Becky Vanderway has worked with global brands such as Prada, Sony, and etc. Becky's various artistic talents have allowed her to work successfully in Fashion Direction, Artist & Brand Development, as well as Lifestyle & Event Curation.

All of this highlights Becky's expansive career as a stylist, which she began after several years working as a management professional in the retail fashion industry. Her current focus is on developing more digital and social media content, in addition to continuing to build her fashion direction portfolio.

Amy Guyon de Chemilly

Amy Guyon de Chemilly was originally born in the beautiful Montreal, Canada country. She has worked with many world-class designers such as Gucci, Christian Dior, Tommy Hilfiger, Issey Miyake and Escada. Amy is a sought after motivational speaker and writer, who is well-respected in the fashion industry. She is the author of "The Art of Beauty and Health". Amy has been using her experiences as a Fashion Model to help coach and mentor models to their full potential through high fashion industry insights and standards.

Ksenia

Been a model you have to take care of yourself a lot, but I never do something crazy. I don't have any diet or special food ration, but if I have a chance I regularly go to the gym or work out at home at least 2 times a week for 30 minutes. About skin and hair care, it's more complicated because we do have a lot of problems with both always in make-up and hairstyles from the shootings. I normally go to a salon to do a procedure "Label Cosmetics Happiest" for the hair. And I am regularly using face creams daily and nightly, plus the vitamins zinc and calcium.

A girl who passion on design, creative thinking, travel and photography. Started her design journey since 2008 and has been work with some reputable brands.

"Knowing where the art will go is easy. I preferred it to have no design. It's not minimalistic, because that in itself is a movement. I just went with what's practical."

Jemima Nissy

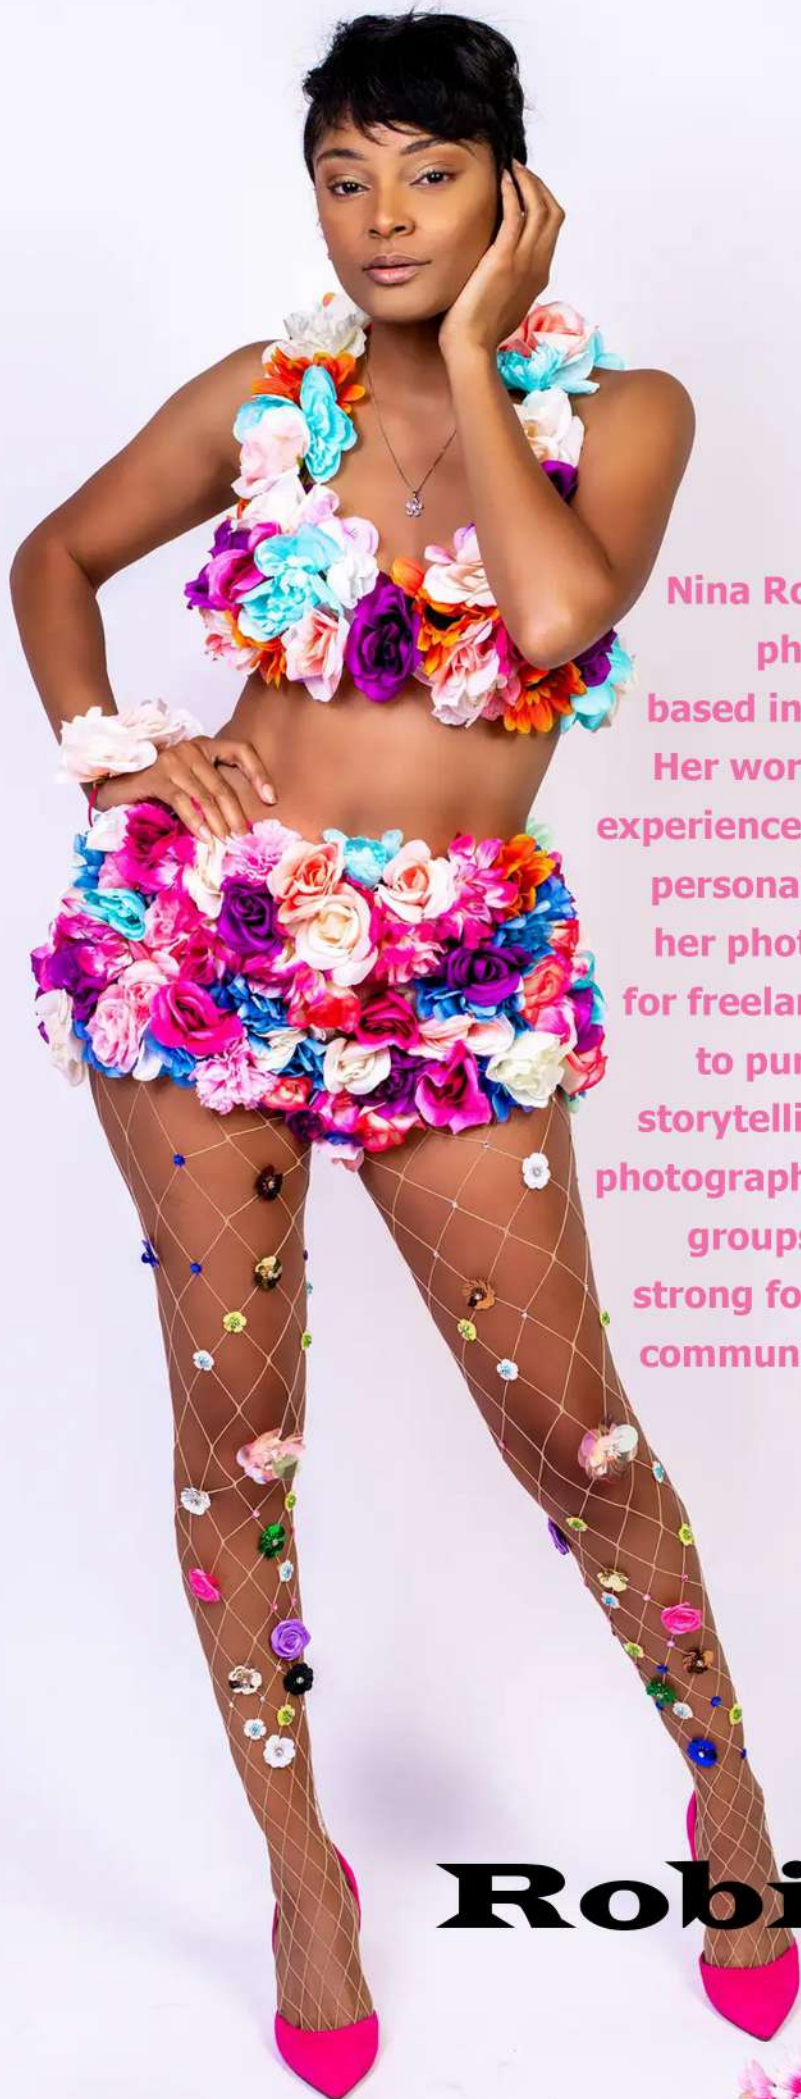

Nissy always loved to design her clothes. Whenever she would have to buy a new dress, she would cancel out the plans and get herself a customized dress. "I had this innate sense of dressing differently. I never trusted a market product but would design my clothes according to my choice."

Darshan Gowda

Nina Robinson is a documentary photographer and educator based in Arkansas and New York. Her work is a mixture of her past experiences, bridging documentary, personal, and fine art. She began her photography career shooting for freelance, she had the freedom to pursue her interest in visual storytelling and portraiture, often photographing musicians and music groups. Her current work has a strong focus on underrepresented communities, aiming to break the visual prejudices of race, class, age, and gender.

A woman with long brown hair, wearing a vibrant red, short-sleeved, form-fitting dress with lace-up detailing at the bust and a high slit, is sitting on a weathered wooden stump. She is wearing light-colored, strappy high-heeled sandals. Her right hand is raised to her forehead, and her left hand is near her chest. She is looking off to the side with a thoughtful expression. The background shows a calm body of water and a hazy, overcast sky. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

Pete Taylor work focuses on capturing the unique and mesmerizing styles. It's not the catwalks that bring her to Fashion Weeks across India; it's instead what's going on just outside the shows. Since 2016, she runs the fashion and style blog The Urban Spotter, which she started with the idea of capturing peoples' sense of fashion and how fashion is visible in our daily lives.

Annette Bragas

Annette Bragan is known for her expert techniques and versatile styles. Combining her affinity for makeup and her global exposure, she creates dewy fresh makeup looks that bring out the natural beauty and unique glow of every person. Her flawless work ensures you look like the best version of yourself all day on your big day without having worry about any touch-ups.

Caroline Wijaya

One of the most striking features in her personality is her knack to design and develop dresses and fashion for all occasions and genres at an affordable cost. She has some of the best designs and fashion to offer. The same is the story with special parties and occasion dresses. She is skilled to design the dresses with her skill sets. She is a fashionista and trendsetter when it comes to coming out with incredible designs and outfits that can easily trend at any place you go.

A-NEU

She developed her skills not just for fashion and dress design but also worked on her other skill sets like social media marketing along with visual and apparel merchandising. This made her understand their requirements and diversity in fashion. She with her incredible skill sets and magnetic personality can make anyone her fan.

Margie

Interestingly, Margie Graddick's core expertise in creating trends rather than recreating looks have made her a preferred name among many celebrities and designers. With her impeccable work, the makeup artist has established a strong fanbase on platform. Besides creating distinctive looks, Margie often interacts with her audience and shares her knowledge about beauty, skincare and hair care through her training.

Ella Judge

A professionally trained dancer, model and creative director, Ella Judge is passionate about collaborating with fellow freelancers to create content that promotes important causes. Ella's modelling work to date has included fitness and dance shoots. Saying that, her creative nature often lends itself to more high fashion editorial projects. As a very ambitious, creative and experimental freelancer, Ella is always eager to work with fellow freelancers to share and try out ideas on shoots.
